Join RAM for a gallery talk on Friday, October 27, 6:00 pm

RAM invites you to a rare opportunity to learn more about Don Reitz—a much-admired ceramic artist who taught at the University of Wisconsin–Madison from 1962 until 1988, and is the focus of RAM's current exhibition, Collection Focus: Don Reitz.

RAM's exhibition was made possible due to a gift of almost 50 of Reitz's pieces from noted collectors Leatrice S. and Melvin B. Eagle. At 6:00 pm on Friday, October 27, RAM Executive Director and Curator of Collections Bruce W. Pepich will host a conversation with the Eagles about their collection process and long-term supportive relationship with Reitz. Galleries will be open for individual viewing prior to the talk, at 5:00 pm.

Following the talk, around 6:45 pm, enjoy a brief gallery tour through Wisconsin Artists: 1960-90, a recently opened exhibition featuring a range of media by artists living and working in the state during the years Reitz was teaching in Wisconsin.

This event is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served.
